PEOPLE LOVE

The fact that I didn't know you,
Did not mean much to me
And here is how I'll tell you,
In my own philosophy,
About our newfound friendship,
And what you mean to me.
We came here on this weekend,
To find our inner minds,
and each of us are different,
In what that person finds.
We came here for a purpose,
And some may reach their goals,
We talk and laugh and try to reach,
eachothers inner souls.
The things we say may make us cry,
and wish we had not come,
Or make us think of sad events,
And what we should have done.
Of what effect our by-gone years,
Have had on each our lives.
And how the present circumstance,
Has come before our eyes.
Of what the future holds for us,
unique a million fold,
Unique in personality,
Unique in ways untold.
We know our vast diverities,
For God has planned it so,
But yet there is a unity,
Which someday we will know.
The key to live a happy life,
is love for everyone.
The key to find the perfect love,
Is Jesus Christ the Son.
Have I really found this love,
Is something I can't say,
I only know N.A. has helped me know the way.
I hope these words will show I care,
For you and everyone,
I pray your lives will all be changed.
Now and years to come!
