Dear Fellow Members:

One month to Memphis!

We applied the same basic techniques to the material on Chapter One that were developed at the Lincoln Literature Conference and got good results. Redundancy was taken out and a new topic outline was developed to hold more key words and ideas. The Chapter One material in "We book form" was then cut and pasted according to the new topic outline. The result was typed, corrected and is being retyped. If it's good enough, we'll make copies and send them out for review next week to the other eight cities working on chapter material, and other members interested in literature, who have contacted us. We don't discriminate in regard to qualifying members who are sent review material. Anyone who lets us know that they want it, gets it. Material not complete by the Memphis Conference, will be done at Memphis in keeping with our First Tradition. There will be plenty of ways to help further the work after Memphis. Reviewing chapter material and stories will come next.

The phone calling has really helped. We called the other eight (8) cities and in this way, shared what was happening. (We will continue this process every Saturday) Some of the cities are well underway and others are not. Two of the cities have not even received thier material. The material has come back in the mail and has been remailed to another address in thier area. So it goes.....There is still time enough in all the cities involved to complete thier work if they make an all out group effort. We know that this will only occur in some areas, and are grateful for any effort put forth. All participation brings us closer to our book. If you want to help review material, please write.

In Loving Service,

BS
