The earliest precursor to the Little White Booklet.

1967

Another Look, our earliest known IP, is first distributed in groups this year.

NA's first IP, Another Look, was run off on a mimeograph machine. In 1968, it would be published in The Voice, NA's newsletter.

IPs and 4 were withdrawn to the World Service Conference in 1980.

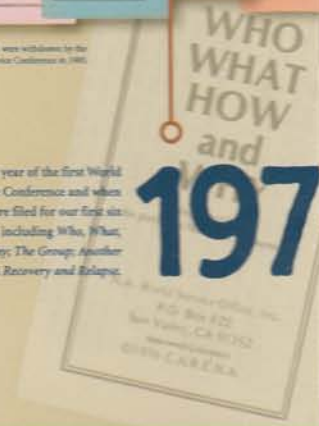

1954

NA's first piece of literature, the Little Brown Booklet, is published this year.

This is the year of the first World Service Conference and when copyrights were filed for our first six pamphlets, including Who, What, How, and Why; The Group; Another Look; and Recovery and Relapse.

1961

The Little White Booklet is published this year.

1972

Jimmy K wrote the Gratitude Prayer this year, and many meetings still close with this prayer today.

Still in publication today, the Little White Booklet provides an introduction to NA.

197

The first translated Little White Booklet is published in German.

THE LONER—Staying Clean in Isolation

1986

In the Third Edition, Revised of the Basic Text, published this year, the fellowship adopts consistent language changes in our literature. For example, "sober" is replaced by "clean," "fix, pill, or drink" is replaced by "drug," and "sobriety" becomes "recovery." All references to alcohol as a separate addiction are removed. The language is revised to reflect addiction as a disease and recovery as a process.

The Anglicized IP#1 as well as IP#20 and 21, H&I and the NA Member and The Loner: Staying Clean in Isolation are published.

This IP was later withdrawn and replaced with PI and the NA Member.

1984

Only a year after publication of the Basic Text, the Third Edition is published. English-language keytags are also produced this year.

1983

A banner year for NA literature, 1983 saw the publication of the Basic Text (First and Second Editions), the Italian Little White Booklet (later withdrawn), and ten IPs, including Just for Today: Living the Program; An Approach to the Fourth Step Inventory; Sponsorship; The Triangle of Self-Obsession; Youth and Recovery; One Addict's Experience with Acceptance, Faith, and Commitment; For the Newcomer; and Use of Medication in Recovery.

Numbered editions of the red-covered Basic Text were sold for $25.00 to raise money for printing. The blue edition sold for $8.00. Later this year, the Second Edition of the Basic Text was published.

This IP is one of many that have been revised. In 1988, questions such as "Have you ever sharpened a needle on a match box?" were removed.

1985

IP#19, Self-Acceptance, is published this year.

1987

IP#22, Welcome to NA, comes out this year. The Fourth Edition of the Basic Text is published.

The first Japanese translation of IP#1 was withdrawn in the early 1990s and republished in 2002.

1990

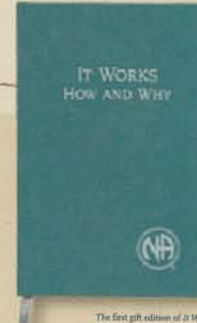

We reach out with our literature to those in institutions with the publication of Behind the Walls. In addition, IP#1 is translated into German.

Hundreds of members contributed input for the NA daily meditation book, Just for Today, which took almost ten years to develop. An Introductory Guide to NA (specially designed for newcomers), IP#15, Public Information and the NA Member, and the booklet In Times of Illness (addressing a variety of issues related to illness) are published. IP#1 is translated into three more languages—Portuguese, Spanish, and Swedish.

1994

We put out our first Braille literature this year, IP#1. IP#1 is published in Brazilian as well. The gift edition of It Works comes out. Eighteen-month and multiple-year keytags are produced.

1996

Our first literature is published in Hebrew, the Basic Text and IP#1. IP#1 comes out in Finnish as well.

1992

1991

The Basic Text is published in Spanish and Portuguese, and IP#17, For Those in Treatment, comes out.

1995

The Basic Text is published in Braille. It is a busy year for translations. Just for Today is published in Spanish. IP#1 is produced in Tagalog and Hindi, and keytags are produced in eight new languages: Finnish, French, Hebrew, Italian, Dutch, Norwegian, Portuguese, and Swedish.

1993

It Works: How and Why, NA's book on the Twelve Steps and Traditions, is published. The gift edition of Just for Today is produced. Translations are going strong: the Basic Text comes out in both German and Brazilian, and IP#1 is published in Norwegian. And eternity medallions are produced to honor addicts who have died clean.

Keytags in new languages.

1989

The first translated NA book, the French Basic Text, is made possible through the collaborative efforts of French and Canadian addicts. Chapters one through ten are published this year with personal stories published in 2000.

1998

Two new books are published in English, The Narcotics Anonymous Step Working Guides and Miracles Happen, and two new IPs come out, IP#25 and 26, Self-Support: Principle and Practice and Accessibility for Those with Additional Needs. The Swedish Basic Text and Portuguese It Works are published. Keytags are produced in three new languages, Bahasa Melayu, Manipuri, and Bengali. IP#1 is published in Bengali, as well.

2000

Five translated books are published: the Russian and French Basic Text, the Spanish and Swedish NA Step Working Guides, and the Brazilian Just for Today. The Greek IP#1 and keytags are produced, as are keytags in Japanese and Russian. The Basic Text comes out in a new CD-ROM format.

The publication of the Spanish Step Working Guide marks the first time, since the English publication of this title, that all of our literature is translated into a language other than English.

World service takes its first distribution trip to China and comes bearing welcome keytag and disks of IP#1.

French editions of It Works and The Step Working Guides are published, as are the Hebrew Just for Today and the Swedish It Works. IP#1 is published in Japanese.
